

THE DAILY BULLETIN

TUESDAY EVE, APRIL 29, 1884.

LEXINGTON is organizing a new building association.

THE Henry College Lottery has suspended business.

ANOTHER expedition to Cuba is about to leave Key West.

THE Democracy of Carter County have declared for Tilden and Hendricks.

A PART of the National Museum will be exhibited at the Louisville Exposition. Congress having granted the authority.

A COMPANY to insure the property of Mayville people against depredations by hogs would do a profitable business if organized in this city.

A DISPATCH to the Cincinnati News-Journal says that rumor at Grayson connects an unknown party with the crime for which Wm. Neal is being tried.

THE following bills relating to Mason County have passed the Legislature: A bill to establish a voting precinct in Mason County, and a bill to establish legal advertising.

LOUISVILLE's new afternoon paper, The Times, will appear on the first of May under the editorial management of Mr. E. G. Logan and Colonel E. Polk Johnson. It will contain the associated press dispatches.

A DISEASE resembling pleuro-pneumonia has broken out among the cattle in Washington County, Pa. Veterinary surgeons pronounce it contagious, and recommend Gov. Pattison to quarantine the district.

A DISPATCH says that the American and European quinine manufacturers' ring has been broken and the retail price per dozen pills has dropped 10 and 15 cents. The wholesale price is quoted to be $1.15 to $1.30 an ounce.

MR. T. J. GLENN, of Carlisle, Grand Standard Bearer of Kentucky Commandery, was in Mayville last night and inspected Mayville Commandery No. 10. It is hardly necessary to say that he found it in the best state of efficiency.

CENTRAL Ohio was visited by a terrible cyclone on Sunday afternoon, which was particularly destructive at Jamestown. The place was almost entirely destroyed and several lives were lost. There was great destruction also at Xenia, Dayton and other points.

DEMOCRATS all over Kentucky held conventions Saturday. Resolutions were unanimously adopted demanding tariff for revenue only. McDonald and Tilden were divided about equally in expression of preference. Quite a number of delegates instructed for Watterson as delegate at large.

PENCILINGS

Along the Way Traveled by News Events.

A grand wedding in India remarkable for many things, but no feature of it is more remarkable than the immense hospitality by which it is attended. At the wedding of the Raja of Cutch 34,000 people were fed on the first day, on the second 37,000 and on the third 35,000.

Human skin and that of young rabbits have been successfully applied in small pieces to large wounds. Dr. Wilson, however, in the Medical News, claims to have obtained very much better results from the use of the internal membrane of hen's eggs. These will probably be used.

MR. O'NEILL, a tramp who recently arrived at Denver, was terribly dear. It cost 25 cents to get a paper by mail and 50 cents for a letter. Nothing is considered less than a quarter. Shaving cost 25 cents, including 50 cents extra kind of a meal costs $1, and extra 50 cents extra. You can't get a place to sleep for less than $1, even though you bunk on the floor.

In French Algeria the work of exterminating wild beasts is making rapid progress. The number killed for which rewards were paid by the Government rose from 647 only in 1881, to 1,656 in the following year. Among these the jackals figure for the first time, and the number taken on the total area the two years 1,909 out of 2,303. Besides these there were four lions, six tigers, 119 panthers and 169 hyenas.

A remarkable case has just been described here. It concerns a woman of unimpeachable character and most personal attractions named Susan Horner, had her likeness taken at John F. Bradleу's photograph gallery.

Mrs. Horner's fate died recently when she supported herself with her needle. While the photographs were finished, they were so very unlike her that she refused to take them. Bradley was very angry and resolved himself by admiring one of the photographs with his pipe and putting a cigar in the mouth. A second he decorated with a large pair of red spectacles, and in the third he gave the face a blotched and distorted appearance. Then he framed the three pictures and some doves were used to them and hung them outside of his studio. The villagers gathered around, and much scandalized at the result. Bradley was further enraged and exhibited his photographs of the girl among the young men of the place. The direct result of all this was a law suit, by which Miss Horner recovered $200 damages.

HOLLAND, Mich., April 29.—At 8 a.m. fire at Allenton county, Mich., destroyed Fairbanks & Law's saw and flour mill, with a large amount of logs and lumber, and damaged all the buildings on the east side of the Chippewa River. In West Michigan railway track, with the exception of the depot and Watson's grain elevator. A girl named Stegoda was badly burned, and in the hospital.

Almost the entire population of the place was at church at the time, and before word could reach them the fire had gained such headway that the church doors were standstill, and the offices were useless. An appeal was sent to a neighboring village, and a train load of firemen and citizens responded, but no aid could be rendered, the town has no water works.

WILLINGHAM, April 29.—A large fire at the depot and Watson's grain elevator. A girl named Stegoda was badly burned, and in the hospital.

Almost the entire population of the place was at church at the time, and before word could reach them the fire had gained such headway that the church doors were standstill, and the offices were useless. An appeal was sent to a neighboring village, and a train load of firemen and citizens responded, but no aid could be rendered, the town has no water works.

CHICAGO, April 29.—A telephone message from Des Plaines, Ill., two miles west of Chicago, says that a fire conflagration is raging there, and assistance has been asked of the Fire Department here. Three engines have been sent from here.

SURFON, Pa., April 29.—Engines left here early in the morning for the scene of a supposed incendiary fire at Seling's Grove, which threatened to destroy the entire village. The fire did not burn with the same intensity, with the breaking out of the fire, just before midnight. Flames were first discovered in Schock & Bros. stores, which quickly spread to other buildings and rapidly destroyed property to the amount of $80,000. All families removed their household effects, and the people are panic-stricken, as this is the second conflagration which has been made to burn the town.

OLEN, N. Y., April 29.—A fire has just broken out, and is still raging terribly. It has already destroyed the Methodist Episcopal Church, the Presbyterian Church, together with fifteen stores and twice as many offices. The postoffice will undoubtedly be reached by the flames.

The estimated loss will exceed one hundred thousand dollars.

TROY, N. Y., April 29.—The Rob Roy house mill has been destroyed by fire.

The mill was equipped with goods, raw and manufactured, and the machinery of the most approved pattern. Insurance amounts to $50,000.

ST. LOUIS, April 29.—Just before 2 o'clock a fire broke out in the basement of this three-story brick building, corner of Jefferson and Market street, occupied on the ground floor by S. H. Geiss, a grocery and the upper stories as tenements. The fire spread rapidly, cutting off the stairways, and great excitement and terror prevailed among the people in the building, who were finally rescued by the firemen from windows by means of ladders, some being seriously injured, though several were slightly burned and nearly suffocated by the smoke.

The fire was the work of an incendiary, but the loss is not great.

GRANGE, IND., April 29.—A man by the name of Fisher, of Andrews, Ind., was suffering from a fever it is believed.

GODFREY BYRD, seventh Viscount of Torrington, is dead, aged seventy-two.

The elections for members of the Spanish Cortes have begun, and six Government candidates have been returned for Madrid.

DR. SANDORD HUNT, editor of the Newark, N. J., Advertiser, is dead. He was prominent on the medical staff in the army, and since his retirement, he has been in charge of the Advertiser.

REV. JESU-MARIA O'Neill, for many years pastor of the Church of the Nativity, at Chicago, and one of the best known Catholic priests in the West, has just died, after a brief illness.

REPORTS from all parts of the Red River Valley in Dakota show fine weather and announce that seeding is two weeks in advance of previous years. The large number of settlers are charged with the fine weather and enticing prospects.

THE failure of Owens & Mercer, New York, has just been announced at the Stock Exchange. The firm, worth $10,000,000, was arranged before Justice Duffy in the Bronx Police Court, and committed the charge of the Staten Island authorities.

THE stock mounters employed by Fuller, Warner & Co. and Bussey & McLeod, at Troy, N. Y., struck on account of the employment of men and the attempted reduction in wages of twenty per cent. It is feared the strike will become general.

THREE freight cars, on the Union Pacific, between the Cass River at Bridgeman, Mich., on the Flint and Pere Marquette Railway, Sunday night, and are totally wrecked. The cars were bound up, and were loaded. The loss will foot up $25,000.

REV. FATHER RITCHIE, of Chicago, the celebrated ritualist, whose contention with Bishop McLaren for a number of years attracted considerable attention, preached on his visit to the Catholic Church of the Ascension, in which he vigorously attacked the Bishop. Ritchie goes to the Church of St. Ignatius, New York.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

COLONEL ROBERT INGERSOLL delivered a lecture at the New York Academy of Music, on Friday evening, April 27, on "Orthodoxy." The building was packed to overflowing, many ladies being dressed to stand. Mr. Ingersoll was dressed in faultless attire, and during the course of his remarks, gained frequent applause.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD, a young man of 22, son of the well-known author of "Ghosts," was drowned in a Hudson River boat at Hugonot, at Hartford, Conn., was drowned.

The canoe drifted to an eddy formed by a bridge pier, and was overturned. Wakefield, who could not swim, was carried with the current, and was drawn ashore by the waves.

SYRACUSE SENSATION.

A Prominent Physician Put in Bad Shape.

The Disappearance of a Young Girl and Its Sad Sequel—Sister Public Letter From an Interested Parent.

Syracuse, N. Y., April 20.—On April 11 Dell Roble, one of the best known ladies in this city, disappeared. It was said that she had eloped with a commercial traveler. Subsequently it was telegraphed from Brazil, that she was there under ill-repute; there. On April 18 she returned and denied the stories. She said she went to Buffalo alone, and in her absence her mother who was taken with scarlet fever and was in an infirmary. About the time of her return it was reported that her father was looking for a woman to marry him, he said, and had betrayed his girl, and that he would shoot him on sight. The subject, which was almost forgotten, has just been revived by the following letter which appeared in the "Daily Standard":

"To M. H. Brown, Eye and Ear Doctor,

Syracuse, N. Y.

"Sir: I hereby charge you with the conduct of my daughter, under circumstances and in a manner that would from hell would hardly dare attempt.

"I charge you after having become acquainted with my daughter at Post Root, G. A. B. place at Five Creek, New Hampshire, when you approached her and was received as an acquaintance, under the guise of an honorable man, with taking my child, who had been married to me, and, in your carriage, and driving to a hotel out of the city, and there giving her liquor, and, while under the influence of the stuff, you sent her home.

I charge you with enlisting young men into your other for immoral purposes.

"I charge you, after driving your divorced wife to a house of ill fame, with visiting her and taking money as a price for her services.

"I charge you with being a heartless libertine and a black-hearted scoundrel.

"Proofs of all those charges will be promptly furnished should you fit to call upon me.

"It is my desire to fully expose your villainy and to put others on their guard against you that I make more public a disgrace that has filled one house, at least, with great sorrow.

Yours truly,

CHARLES H. BROWN.

Mr. Brown is one of the most prominent physicians here. The police expect bloodshed and are watching Roble and Brown closely.

Troubles of a Poor Princess.

LONDON, April 20.—While the newspapers are filled with accounts of the grand doings over the marriage of Darmstadt, the "Memoirs" of the Princess Alice throw a painful light on the small miseries of the great.

When first she was married her dining-room was so small that she could not invite any one to dinner; and when she had her first child she then had to send the baby to bed and go to the toilet. She could not visit her mother nor keep a governess, and when the Emperor of Russia paid her the compliment of a visit she was allowed herself at the expense of entraining him.

The Queen had at last to come to her rescue by spending £20,000 on a new palace, and as the English nation all the time was ready to sacrifice the Queen's dowry of £20,000, the German Princess can not have contributed much to the domestic expenses.

An Authority on the Greedy Expedition.

LONDON, April 20.—The Standard to-day discusses the Greedy Expedition in an elaborate article. It thinks the American naval authorities show meagre knowledge of Arctic exploration, and expects that some of the published orders must, from time to time, have been issued before the ship sailed. It condemns the decision to place the Alert at Littleton Island. It believes that the Greedy party, if it reached Cape Horn, will be compelled to remain there. It concludes that on the whole it is probably at this moment safe and well at Lady Franklin Bay, and possibly has even reached Upernivik. The article bears internal evidence of being prepared by a high Arctic authority.

THE MARKETS.

General.

NEW YORK, April 28.—Lard $8 80¢ 89 for May. Molasses—Dull: boiling stock, spot, 25¢. Turpentine—Quiet and steady at 32¢. Butter—Crisp: mixed 40¢; red 40¢; spot 42¢; @ 45. Cheese—Unchanged. Butter—Western creamery 25¢ 28¢. Eggs—Steady: State 15¢ @ 16¢; western 15¢ @ 16¢. Sugar—Cut loaf 75¢ @ 78¢. Freight—Dull. Coffee—Quiet: Rio, ordinary, 9¢ 10¢.

Cotton.

CINCINNATI, April 28.—Wheat—Was firm and held for full rates. Samples of desirable milling grades were scarce, and millers disposed to hold off to await further developments. Prints to clear No. 3 red sold at $1 06¢ @ 10, and longberry at $1 12¢ @ 15.

The market was steady, sellers holding for rates. Some dealers being disposed to remain out of the market. Ear corn sold at 55¢ @ 56¢; as to quality, No. 3 mixed sold at 57¢ @ 58¢; No. 2 mixed at 58¢ @ 59¢; No. 1 white at 60¢ @ 60¢.

Other market was steady with a fair demand. We quote No. 2 milled 56¢ 58¢; No. 2 white at 59¢ @ 60¢.

No. 3 white at 59¢ @ 60¢.

NEW YORK, April 28.—Flour—Dull, unchanged, with a steady demand.

Sample of the best wheat 2¢ 2¢ 2¢ winter. May $1 10¢. Do June $1 12¢. Do July $1 10¢. Corn—2 mixed 86¢ @ 87¢.

May 64¢ @ 65¢. Oats—Mixed 37¢ @ 38¢.

Rye—Quiet: mixed 37¢ @ 38¢.

Nominal. Pork—Dull. 16 57¢ @ 57¢.

MILWAUKEE, April 28.—Wheat—May,

95¢; June, 98¢. Corn—Quiet: No. 1, 96¢.

Oats: Steady: No. 2, 33¢ 35¢. Rye—Firm:

No. 1, 65¢. Barley—Strong: No. 2 71¢.

Live Stock.

CHICAGO, April 28.—Markets easier, with fair to good trade. Cattle—Mixed 40¢ @ 45¢.

Chic. heavy, 45¢ @ 50¢.

Cattle—Exports, 48¢ @ 50¢.

good to choice, 48¢ @ 50¢.

commodities, medium, 48¢ @ 50¢.

Sheep—Market steady. Inferior to fair, 45¢ @ 50¢.

per ewt; medium to good, 45¢ @ 50¢.

Medium to good, 45¢ @ 50¢.